DEFEATS MOTION FOR REJECTION

HOLDS OUT OLIVE BRANCH

Irish Nationalist Leader Offers Pacific Assurances to Ulster, but Insists That It Is Impossible for Him and His Colleagues to Agree to the Permanent Exclusion of the Province.

London, April 7 .- By a majority of eighty an amendment for the rejection of the home rule bill was defeated in the house of commons and without division the bill was given for the third time its second reading in the house.

The announcement of the figures evoked louder cheers from the opposition than from the ministerialists, the opposition interpreting them as gratifying proof of a dwindling government abstention from voting of the O'Brien-

The speeches were generally much more conciliatory than those which marked the bill's earlier passages. James E. Redmond, the Nationalist leader, who opened the debate, again held out the olive branch to Ulster, in a speech of great eloquence, but insisted that it was impossible for him and his colleagues to agree to the permanent exclusion of Ulster and to abandon the principle of "Ireland a

Andrew Bonar-Law, the opposition leader, though professing in certain passages of his speech to see hardly any hope of a peaceful settlement and predicting that civil war was certain if the government persisted in pushing the bill through, declared that he and his colleagues would gladly accept a proposal for the renewal of the conversations with the government leaders, but feared that nothing would come of it.

Augustine Birrell, chief secretary for Ireland, was most optimistic. Despite all adverse criticism, he is certain that great progress has been made to ward a peaceful settlement and civi! war, he declared, is impossible.

The second reading of the home rule bill was carried the first time by a majority of 101 and the second time by a majority of 98. This time eight O'Brienites abstained from voting and two Liberals voted against the government. One Nationalist was absent through illness. Three Laborites also were absent and Charles F. G. Masterman, who had previously voted as a member of the government, lost his seat in the election for Bethnal Green last February.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, April 7 .- [Special.]-Secrecy in handling public questions is the cause of a great many misunderstandings. Nearly every senator will assert that secret sessions of the senate are necessary to consider treaties and other matters pertaining to foreign governments.

It does seem absurd that in a republic one or two men may make a treaty with a foreign government and that it may be taken into the secret session of the senate and ratified and the people know nothing about it, no matter how it affects their interests. But that is the way things are done, although occasionally information concerning passing through the Panama canal treaties reaches the public, but not in

The above letter should convince you more than anything we could say in behalf of Mdyr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy. Sufferers should try one dose of this Remedy—one dose should convince them that they can be restored to health. Nearly all Stomach Aliments are caused by the clogging of the intestival tract with mucoid and catarrhal accretions allowing poisonous fluids into the Stomach and otherwise deranging the digestive system. Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy painlessly removes these accretions without a surgical operation and puts an end to Colic Attacks, Gases in the Stomach and Intestines and all of the usual symptoms of Stomach. Liver and Intestinal Adments. Ask your druggist about Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy or send to Geo. H. Mayr, Mfg. Chemist, 154 Whiting St., Chicago, Ill., for free booklet on Stomach Adments and many grateful letters from people who have been restored.

HOW THEIR TYPE IS EVOLVED

A Keen Analysis of a Vital Sociological down to watch proceedings. Problem-Do the Lives of the Four tenced to Die Show What Makes Murderers?

How are "gun men" made?

"Gyp the Blood," "Lefty Louie," 'Whitey Lewis" and "Dago Frank" will die in Sing Sing during the week of April 13 unless the governor of New York intervenes. When their bodies are lifted from the chair society will rest content in the belief that it cases crime deterrents.

It was too far off and York in July, 1912? And will they pay the penalty? Doubtless this is socilady wait on, discover another quarry, chase it, throwing up cleverly, and ety's first responsibility.

But shall we stop there? asks Winthrop D. Lane in the Survey. Is it not important to learn as much as possible of their early lives and associations to discover how we may prevent more "gun men" from being made? Where did these four boys come from? Who are their parents? How was their childhood spent? Did they become murderers in a day?

There are no lazy folk in waspland. "Lefty Louie" was born in the heart of New York's congested lower east side. The family is one of respectable their more celebrated relatives the bees orthodox Jews. No suspicion of crime and the ants. Labor and effort are has ever been lodged against any other evenly divided in a nest of wasps. For member of the family.

> Became a "Street Fiend." After an illness at the age of six the doctor said that Louie must have all the fresh air he could get. At that time the family was poor, and the only fresh air for Louie was in the street. In a couple of years he became, says his father, a "street fiend." The first misdeed his family knew about hap> pened when he was eleven or twelve. He was sent to a private school and after that worked in a store and his father's office. But his passionate first arrest was in 1907, when Louie was sixteen. Soon after he came out he was arrested for picking a pocket.

"Whitey Lewis" came to the United States from Poland in 1900, when twelve years old. His parents are guilty to grand larceny in the second degree. Two other convictions for similar offenses followed, and then "Whitey" entered the army and went to the Philippines.

There he stabbed a man and was given hard labor for three months and dishonorably discharged. He returned to this country and fell in with old Thurs., April 9

Two of "Whitey's" brothers have been arrested, one as a pickpocket. "Dago Frank" was confirmed in a Protestant Episcopal church. His family attended the church regularly, and it has been said that Frank sang in the choir. He began work at fifteen as an errand boy. Soon after he left this job he was convicted of carrying concealed weapons. This is the only charge, except that of murdering Rosenthal, ever made against him. Frank says the weapons were handed to him by an ex-convict and that he was caught with them fifteen minutes later. By what steps he came to be a member of the notorious Zelig gang it is difficult to learn. The attorney who defended him thinks that it was the evil associations Frank formed while in the reformatory that caused his un-

From the age of eight to thirteen "Gyp" received instruction in the religious teaching of his race. With "Lefty" he frequented pool rooms. At seventeen he was arrested for the first time, the charge being petit larceny. He was discharged. The next year for a similar offense he was sentenced to nine months in the city reformatory. He served a second term in the reformatory and then a year in the state penitentiary. Two of "Gvp's" brothers have been arrested

Do not these facts suggest the importance not only of punishing criminals, but also of finding out why they are criminals? asks the writer.

GOOD SENSE.

Good sense is a fund slowly and painfully accumulated by the labor of centuries. It is a jewel of the first water, whose value he alone understands who has lost it or who observes the life of others who have lost it. "I had gone with my husband to find a barber. It was dusk when we enered the one room of the tiny cottage, and work was over for the day. The ast customer sat idly in a corner gossiping with the barber's wife, while the man of razors himself was idly glancing over last week's newspaper. It was too dark to see the details of the room, but I managed to find an oak chest in front of a bed and sat

"It was a curious sight. In the mid-Victims of Evil Circumstances Sen- dle of the room sat my Englishman in his light tweed suit, a towel round his neck, his face covered with ghostly gleaming lather. In front of him stood the barber's wife, a lighted candle in her hand to guide her husband in his work; finally, his thin cadaverous face my husband now by the nose, now by the chin.

SUSPENDED ANIMATION.

If This Scientist Succeeds We Will Have a New Economic Era.

A remarkable suggestion is advanced by a Russian scientist. Could the vital functions of animals be completely suspended for a period and then restored to full vigor an economic revolution would result. The stock on the farm which yields no profit in the winter. such as bees and sheep, might literally longing for the street continued. His be laid aside until spring, costing nothing during the unproductive season and yielding a profit as soon as they began to incur expense.

The cost of shipping live stock of all kinds would fall to the irreducible minimum. With vital functions suspended poor. The excitement of street life in all kinds of animals, birds and fish New York city was too much for could be made to occupy the smallest "Whitey," and during his first year in possible space in the transporting vehia new environment he made the ac- cle and carried without injury to themquaintance of professional criminals in selves or of any deterioration in their and vigor at the end of the journey or when needed for use.

Such a hiatus in the existence of man could it be brought about successfully would add materially to his apparent life span and tide him over many critical periods.

Such are the thoughts occupying the mind of the Russian scientist, who is making exhaustive experiments along the very lines which suggest them. He has succeeded in suspending the vital functions of lower organisms by drying and restoring them by the application of moisture

He has accomplished the same ends in some insects by submitting them to varying degrees of low temperature and afterward applying heat.

Now he is gradually ascending in the scale of life, but with the frank confession that he dares not hope that his successes will reach the height to which he aspires.-Boston Herald.

Mr. Kellogg was always teasing his wife. It was strange that she did not oftener suspect the pitfalls he prepared for her. This time he came home to dinner and said gravely, "Young White's wife gave it to him hot and heavy this morning!"

The Whites had been married but a few months, and Mrs. Kellogg promptly scented a scandal,

"Fighting already? How dreadful!" she continued. "Tell me about it." "Oh, she just gave him one of the bis cuits she made for breakfast," replied her husband.-Youth's Companion.

Equestrian statues on the battlefield of Gettysburg all follow a general rule which sculptors have adopted as an arbitrary convention. If two feet of the horse are in the air the rider was killed. If one foot is lifted from the ground the rider was wounded. If all four feet are planted on the pediment then it signifies that the subject of the statue was not hurt .- New York World.

May, 1841, educated by tutors, went abroad in his early youth, where he acquired several languages. When the civil war broke out the young man, who had always shown a love for the sea, received a commission in the United States navy.

In 1866 he entered upon his life work, becoming managing editor of the New York Herald, executive head for his father, whom age had compelled to remain at his Fort Washington estate. When the father died in 1872 the son became in fact the master of the news paper property.

The son first evinced his initiative when he sent Henry M. Stanley, who was his correspondent at Madrid, to central Africa to find David Livingstone, the English explorer. The assignment was made tersely by cable, and between that day and this his men have gone to the ends of the earth on similar missions, with as brief direc-

Mr. Bennett never married. His fortune is estimated at more than $25,-000,000. There are two Bennett homes in New York city, the family homestead on Washington heights and a town residence in East Forty-ninth street.

The editor's Paris home is at 37 Avenue d'Iena, and he established also a country home and a villa at Beaulieu, on the coast of the Mediterranean. Mr. Bennett's nearest relative is his sister, Mrs. Isaac Bell, who has a son and daughter, all of whom live abroad. An Interesting Anecdote.

Mr. Bennett had a habit of "dropping in" upon his offices without any notice being sent of his coming. On one of these occasions one of the pressmen, a man who had worked for the elder Bennett and was an excelle workman, though guilty of an occa sional lapse from sobriety, had a ba black eye and was in a quandary to what excuse he should offer if Bennett noticed it. Acting on a s den inspiration, he seized an ink rolle and rubbed a daub of ink on the side of his face completely concealing the discoloration of the skin. Presently Mr

"What's that man's name?" he asked his superintendent. The culprit quaked in his shoes until Mr. Bennett said slowly:

"I want you to give that man $3 per week more wages. He is the only man in the room who looks as if he had been working."

MORAL STRENGTH.

Our times of greatest pleasure are when we have won some higher peak of difficulty, trodden under foot some evil and felt day by day so sure a growth of moral strength within us that we cannot conceive of an end of growth. - Stopford A. Brooke.

For those ills peculiar to women Dr. Pierce recommends his "Favorite Prescription" as

"THE ONE REMEDY"

A medicine prepared by regular graduated physician of unusual experience in treating woman's diseases—carefully adapted to work in harmony with the most delicate feminine constitution. All medicine dealers have sold it with satisfaction to custemers for the past 40 years. It is now obtainable in liquid or sugar-coated tablet form at the drug store—or send 50 one-cent stamps for a trial box, to Buffalo.

Every woman may write fully and confidentially to Dr. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., and may be sure that her case will receive careful, conscientious, confidential consideration, and that experienced medical advice will be given to her absolutely free.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, livnd bowels. Sugar coated, tiny granules easy to take as candy.

Words of Praise

For Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy

"How thankful we are to you for getting a hold of your Wonderful Remedy, My wife could not have had but as short time to live if she had not taken your Wonderful Remedy when shedld. One more of those paroxysm pains she was having would have killed her without a doubt. Now she is free from all pain, free from that disturbing Neuralgia—all the results of five er six hundred Gall Stones. Now she is able to eat anything she wants and her appetite is good and before taking your medicine she had no appetite and when she ate anything she would suffer death for so doing and could not sleep at mg. it; since taking your treatment she than a she would suffer death for so doing and could not sleep at mg. it; since taking your treatment she are well all night long. Texas."

The above letter should convince you more than anything we could say in behalf of Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy. Sufferers should try one dose of this Remedy—one dose should convince them that they can be restored to health. Nearly all Stomach Aliments are caused by the clogging of the intestigal tract with mucoid and catarrhal accretions allowing poisonous fluids into the Stomach and otherwise deranging the digestive system. Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy painlessly removes these accretions without a surgical operation and puts an end to Colic Attacks, Gases in the Stomach and Intestines and all of the usual symptoms of Stomach. ines and all of the usual symptoms of Stomach Liver and Intestinal Ailments. Ask your drug-gist about Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy or send to Geo. H. Mayr, Mrg. Chemist, 154 Whiting St., Chicago, Ill., for free booklet on Stomach Ailments and many grateful letters from people who have been restored.

Is it not important to learn as much as possible of their early lives and associations to discover how we may prevent more "gun men" from being made? Where did these four boys come from? Who are their parents? How was their childhood spent? Did they become murderers in a day?

"Lefty Louie" was born in the heart of New York's congested lower east tious-quite as much so, in fact, as side. The family is one of respectable orthodox Jews. No suspicion of crime has ever been lodged against any other member of the family.

> Became a "Street Fiend." After an illness at the age of six the doctor said that Louie must have all the fresh air he could get. At that time the family was poor, and the only fresh air for Louie was in the street. "My husband had a cough for fif-In a couple of years he became, says his father, a "street fiend." after that worked in a store and his father's office. But his passionate longing for the street continued. His first arrest was in 1907, when Louie was sixteen. Soon after he came out he was arrested for picking a pocket.

"Whitey Lewis" came to the United States from Poland in 1900, when twelve years old. His parents are poor. The excitement of street life in New York city was too much for tts "Whitey," and during his first year in a new environment he made the acquaintance of professional criminals in guilty to grand larceny in the second degree. Two other convictions for similar offenses followed, and then "Whitey" entered the army and went to the Philippines.

There he stabbed a man and was given hard labor for three months and dishonorably discharged. He returned to this country and fell in with old associates. Two of "Whitey's" brothers have been arrested, one as a pickpocket. "Dago Frank" was confirmed in a Protestant Episcopal church. His family attended the church regularly, and it has been said that Frank sang in the choir. He began work at fifteen as job he was convicted of carrying concealed weapons. This is the only charge, except that of murdering Rosenthal, ever made against him. Frank says the weapons were handed to him by an ex-convict and that he was caught with them fifteen minutes later.

By what steps he came to be a member of the notorious Zelig gang it is difficult to learn. The attorney who defended him thinks that it was the evil associations Frank formed while in the reformatory that caused his un-

> The Lure of the Pool Room. "Gyp the Blood" was a childhood companion of "Lefty Louie," the story of his entrance into lawbreaking is much the same as that of "Lefty's." His father is well to do. From the age of eight to thirteen "Gyp" received instruction in the religious teaching of his race. With "Lefty" he frequented pool rooms. At seventeen he was arrested for the first time, the charge being petit larceny. He was discharged. The next year for a similar offense he was sentenced to nine months in the city reformatory. He served a second term in the reformatory and then a year in the state penitentiary. Two of "Gyp's" brothers have been arrested

Such are the histories of four young men now looked upon as desperate and hardened criminals. Yet beyond their connection with one crime the world has shown no concern in the stages by which their criminal careers developed. None of the parents of the gun men has ever been charged with crime. Gradually the four made the acquaintance of older boys and men who had mastered the trick of turning an easy dollar. Their own entrances into crime were gradual and began in every case but that of "Dago Frank" with attempts to get spending money easily.

Do not these facts suggest the importance not only of punishing criminals, but also of finding out why they are criminals? asks the writer.

GOOD SENSE.

Good sense is a fund slowly and painfully accumulated by the labor of centuries. It is a jewel of the first water, whose value he alone understands who has lost it or who observes the life of others who have lost it. I think no price too great to pay for gaining it and keeping it, for the possession of eyes that see and a judgment that discerns.— Charles Wagner.

"I had gone with my husband to find a barber. It was dusk when we enered the one room of the tiny cottage, and work was over for the day. The last customer sat idly in a corner gossiping with the barber's wife, while the man of razors himself was idly glancing over last week's newspaper. It was too dark to see the details of the room, but I managed to find an oak chest in front of a bed and sat

"It was a curious sight. In the middle of the room sat my Englishman in his light tweed suit, a towel round his neck, his face covered with ghostly gleaming lather. In front of him stood the barber's wife, a lighted candle in her hand to guide her husband in his owner and yachtsman, has in some rework; finally, his thin cadaverous face my husband now by the nose, now by

It was he which I was sitting.

"'Taisez vous donc!' growled the barber mildly, still intent on his work, But the laugh had broken the charm. From every corner came rustlings, giggles, little voices and shining merry eyes. And everywhere there were beds beds full of boys and girls!

"'Why, however many children have you?' I asked as soon as the bewilderment of finding myself surrounded by this crowd of onlookers allowed me to speak "'Fourteen, madam,' replied the wo-

"The house is so small that we console ourselves by the size of our family,' remarked the barber jocosely, at which there was much merriment in the cupboard beds.'

SUSPENDED ANIMATION.

If This Scientist Succeeds We Will Have a New Economic Era.

A remarkable suggestion is advanced by a Russian scientist. Could the vital functions of animals be completely suspended for a period and then restored to full vigor an economic revolution would result. The stock on the farm which yields no profit in the winter. such as bees and sheep, might literally be laid aside until spring, costing nothing during the unproductive season and yielding a profit as soon as they be gan to incur expense.

The cost of shipping live stock of all kinds would fall to the irreducible miniall kinds of animals, birds and fish could be made to occupy the smallest possible space in the transporting vehicle and carried without injury to them selves or of any deterioration in their Chinatown. At sixteen he pleaded food value, to be received in full flesh when needed for use.

Such a hiatus in the existence of man could it be brought about successfully would add materially to his apparent life span and tide him over many critical periods.

Such are the thoughts occupying the mind of the Russian scientist, who is making exhaustive experiments along the very lines which suggest them. He has succeeded in suspending the vital functions of lower organisms by drying and restoring them by the applica tion of moisture.

He has accomplished the same ends in some insects by submitting them to an errand boy. Soon after he left this | varying degrees of low temperature and afterward applying heat.

Hot and Heavy.

Mr. Kellogg was always teasing his wife. It was strange that she did not have gone to the ends of the earth on oftener suspect the pitfalls he prepared for her. This time he came home to dinner and said gravely, "Young White's wife gave it to him hot and heavy this morning!"

The Whites had been married but a few months, and Mrs. Kellogg promptly scented a scandal.

"Fighting already? How dreadful! she continued. "Tell me about it." "Oh, she just gave him one of the bis cuits she made for breakfast." replied her husband.-Youth's Companion.

What the Hoofs Tell.

Equestrian statues on the battlefield of Gettysburg all follow a general rule which sculptors have adopted as an arbitrary convention. If two feet of the horse are in the air the rider was killed. If one foot is lifted from the ground the rider was wounded. If all four feet are planted on the pediment then it signifies that the subject of the statue was not hurt .- New York World.

An Interesting Anecdote. Mr. Bennett had a habit of "drop ping in" upon his offices without any notice being sent of his coming. On one of these occasions one of the press men, a man who had worked for th elder Bennett and was an excellen workman, though guilty of an occ sional lapse from sobriety, had a be black eye and was in a quandary to what excuse he should offer if A Bennett noticed it. Besides it would be a manifest unfairness not to put all of the boys. who wish to work during the summer vacation, on the same footing with reference to the time, at which they may be available for work.

Attention has been called repeatedly to the state law which does not permit a child of school age to take employment in shop, store or factory because of poverty.

A careful compliance with the above law, as to school attendance, for a few years would render most boys available for work, if their parents so desired, before they reached the age of sixteen, as a majority would meet the requirement in completing the common branches, or the eighth grade, at the age of fourteen.

A number of requests come in each month for a school permit to work, on the ground that the child is almost sixteen. No school official can issue a permit unless the child has already turned sixteen, or has completed the eighth grade and the school official is required by law to make affidavit, under penalty, to that effect.

At the recent teachers' association meeting in St. Cloud, the Brainerd schools were represented by nearly every department of the association. Mrs. Clark had charge of the normal round table, at that meeting and the attendance and enthusiasm in that section was said to have surpassed that in most of the departments.

Miss Walsh and Miss Baker took ctive parts in the primary section and in addition thereto had an opportunity to visit the primary rooms of the St. Cloud schools, to confer with the various primary teachers, as to plans and methods and to com- K. Armour No. 2 Mine of Ironton Ships First Ore of the Season

MINES AND FURNACES MERGER

Cuyuna-Mille Lacs and Cuyuna-Duluth Part of Big Manufacturing Co.

The honor of shipping the first ore of the season will this year probably go to the Armour No. 2 mine of the Mathias F. Snyder and wife to Geo. Rogers, Brown Ore Co. near Ironton. Nine hundred tons of ore are now be ng loaded into the cars from the shaft. Later, when a steam shovel burrows into the stock pile of 125,-100 tors accumulated during the winter, the rail shipments will be largely increased. The Kennedy mine of the same company, at Cuyuna, has a stock pile of 75,000 tons gathered during the winter. The total shipments for the season, it is estimated, will amount to 300,000 tons at the Kennedy. Chester D. Tripp, of Chicago, visited the mines this week. The Armour No. 1, idle for a long period, may not be worked at all this season.

Drilling on the property of the Cuyuna Iron & Manganese Ore Co., adjoining the big Pennington pit mine west of Ironton, is progressing in hole No. 44 and at last report was in surface. Hole 43 was put down 200 feet and showed up some good ore and the drill was then moved to ted in this hole as it is in the iron belt and but a short distance from

The pit mines of the range will enter largely into the tonnage of the range this season. The Rowe pit mine at Riverton will do its first shipping. New electrical equipment ordered some time ago, will be installed within a week, and the hydraulic plant will be started up as soon as the weather permits. A steam shovel has been at work all winter, removing usually about 2,000 yards of overburden daily. Additional trackage to the mine has been put in by the Soo line. The Pennington pit mine west of Ironton has a steam shovel and a erew are at work. The Thompson mine was formerly an underground mine and has now been converted to a pit mine and will do its first shipping as such this season.

At the county poor farm of Crow Wing county the Longyear Exploration company has a drill at work boring through the surface, an agle hole of 70 degrees being the first one contemplated. The county commissioners receive regular reports from the drilling company.

The Hale-Bradley Exploration ompany is drilling three miles south of Brainerd in the Stillings farm in section 12, township 44, range 31 This company also has a drill in section 9, township 46, range 28. G H. Wyman, of Anoka, has a drill on the Ebert land in section 29, town ship 46, range 28. I section 13 township 47, range 28, Dr. O'Brien and associates, of Superior, have a drill at work. It is down 60 feet and still in surface. The Helmer drill has closed down temporarily in the Bay Lake district and it is reported will remove to the Olson land in section 6, township 45, range 28.

The Brainerd-Cuyuna mine in the city limits of Brainerd now has its baled. econd shaft down 45 feet. Sixteen men are at work, three shifts being employed. At 70 feet the water was struck in the first shaft. The company has three pumps on the ground ready to be used when needed and in addition has a lot of steel piling 40 feet long, to be driven when the quicksand area is again traversed. The sinking of the second shaft will serve to unwater the first. The Barrows mine at Barrows has worked steadily and accumulated two stock piles. Last year it shipped its quota of 10,000 tons which this year

THE BOTTOM OF THE SEA.

When It Falls Out, if It Ever Does, Goodby Old World.

When the bottom of the sea gives way from some future volcanic disturb day are being consumed, according to articles of a similar nature which not far distant. The earth's crust is very thin at the bottom of the sea, he says, and he adds that the floor on which we stand is more frail than we are led to believe.

M. Rabourdin imagines a disaster so great as to involve the whole earth. If pasteboard, or other material, and such an event should occur he thinks that from a distant world its appearance and progress would exactly parallel what we ourselves see in the case of the "novae," or distant stars, that blaze out in the heavens from time to they can be sent without spoiling.

a large mass of the sea bottom should give way and, falling suddenly, should let in the mass of the ocean's waters upon the incandescent interior matter? The water would be decomposed by the heat, the hydrogen would burn, and it would burn more as of anything from the package and when the world was a child. it had access to more oxygen. The conflagration would thus gain gradually in force, accompanied by electric phenomena, and the greater part of the earth's crust would probably be displaced. The earth, passing through a critical epoch and returning for the time being to its formative period. would again be nothing but a globe of | ter.

"For the faroff worlds that swing in sidereal space this would be the phenomenon of a new star that blazes out all at once, increases in brilliancy as if it would eclipse the luminous splendor of all its neighbors and then becomes feebler and feebler, to disappear finally forever in the profound darkness of the limitless distance.'

When such a catastrophe takes place, if it ever does, that will be the "end of the world," so far as we at least are concerned.-New York World.

HARVEST WEED FOR SOAP.

Kansas Farmers Find Source of Income From Common Plant.

Residents of western Kansas have found an unexpected source of income in the harvesting of Spanish bayonet or soap weed to supply the demands of soap manufacturers.

There are various plants in the southwest locally known as soap weed. but the one gathered by the Kansas farmers. Yucca bacata, a species with exceptionally large fruits, is most valuable. The soap manufacturers use the top or the roots.

Eight dollars a ton is the ordinary price paid for the plants in bulk at the shipping point, while the estimated cost of cutting, baling and hauling is $5 to $6, depending upon the distance to the railroad. As a man can ordinarily get out a ton a day the gathering of the weeds enables one to make a fair day's wages at a time when other ranch activities are not pressing. After cutting the plants are allowed to dry sixty to ninety days and then

This weed has long been used by Indian and Mexican women to make a soapy decoction which they employ to Chinese Flat Noses.

"The Chinese mother," the ethnolo gist explained, "carries her babe in a pressed against her. Day in and day out, all through its babyhood, the little thing's soft and malleable nose is pressed against its mother's back. Hence it is no wonder, is it, that the Chinese are a flat nosed race?"
